

Clonakilty Garda Station visual guides

Attending for interview

Supported by

SuperValu

Developed by

Garda is the Irish word for Police. The Gardai work to make sure that everybody is safe. Sometimes I might need to go the Garda Station to:

- ✓ Have a form stamped
- ✓ Ask for help
- ✓ Report a crime

This is the Clonakilty
Garda Station.

Supported by
SuperValu

Developed by

This is the waiting area. I can sit here while I am waiting for the Garda to talk to me. I can make an appointment to see the Gardai if I telephone the office. The number is 023 882 1570. This means that I will not have to wait in the waiting area.

Supported by

SuperValu

Developed by

If it is available the Gardai will speak to me in the interview room.

When the red light is on outside, this means that the interview room is not available

Supported by
SuperValu

Developed by

If the interview room is not available, I can wait in the waiting area.

I can ask to use the Relaxation box if I need to.

Developed by

Supported by

SuperValu

When the Garda is ready to talk to me, they will call my name.

An Garda Síochána
Ireland's National Police & Security Service